FORMULATION DEVELOPMENT

COREALIS Pharma offers “turn-key projects”, i.e. - executing all project development steps of a finished product. We can also take on ad-hoc projects that complete one, or several phases of the product development process. We offer a flexible approach and pride ourselves in providing superior personalized service with fast project start-up.

CLINICAL SUPPLY MANUFACTURING

COREALIS Pharma offers clinical dosage manufacturing, release/stability testing, and packaging for clinical trials. Support during the submission process to regulatory agencies and transfer of the products and processes to a large scale manufacturing site are also provided. All clinical manufacturing work is performed within COREALIS’s quality systems which are reviewed on a regular basis by Qualified Quality Persons.
