

Pathways to Pediatrics

Listen to the new AAP Podcast Pediatrics On Call series, "Pathways to Pediatrics," to hear AAP leaders and celebrated authorities discuss early training and career experiences and what motivated them to choose pediatric medicine. Learn more at aap.org/podcast.

Inaugural Featured Guests—

AAP President Sara "Sally" Goza, MD, FAAP reminisces about growing up in rural Georgia and offers advice about navigating complicated career journeys.

Paul Offit, MD, FAAP is director of the Vaccine Education Center and an attending physician in the Division of Infectious Diseases at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. Dr Offit explains how his childhood scars created in him a need to advocate for children.

Anisa Ibrahim, MD, FAAP draws on her own experiences as a refugee in her work caring for the immigrant families in her community in Washington State, where she is a Clinical Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Washington and Medical Director of Harborview Medical Center's Pediatrics Clinic.

Dennis Kuo, MD, MHS, FAAP is Associate Professor and Division Chief of General Pediatrics at the University of Buffalo Jacobs School of Medicine & Biomedical Sciences. Dr Kuo brings a special family member guest, Dr Zane Kuo, to the podcast as he describes his family's pediatric legacy.

Thomas Glenn, MD is a pediatric cardiology fellow at Rady Children's Hospital-San Diego. Dr Glenn was born with hypoplastic left heart syndrome and explains how his own chronic disease shaped his career.

Perri Klass, MD, FAAP is a Professor of Journalism and Pediatrics at New York University and Co-Director of NYU Florence. Dr Klass explains how she forced two paths to merge as she combined medicine with journalism.

Rebecca Baum, MD, FAAP, a developmental behavioral pediatrician at the Olson Huff Center at Mission Children's Hospital in Asheville, NC, explains why she wants to educate pediatricians about psychopharmacology.

Nathaniel Beers, MD, MPA, FAAP, President and CEO of the HSC Health Care System, explains how he combines his passion for medicine, education, and policy, and offers advice for maintaining work-life balance.
