

ENDING HUMAN TRAFFICKING

COLLECTIVE LIBERTY'S MISSION

At Collective Liberty, our purpose extends beyond the justice system. While our innovative technologies produce efficient insights needed by law enforcement and other agencies to prosecute human traffickers, they also help protect and liberate survivors. Combined with legislative efforts to create systemic change through public policy, it is our mission to effectively end all forms of human trafficking and ensure survivors have access to necessary resources.

One of the most commonly exploited vulnerabilities that traffickers prey on is the desire for a better life. Every single person trapped in a trafficking situation is denied the right to freely and fairly choose the type of work they want to do and to profit from their own work. Collective Liberty's projects target key states that are estimated to have the highest amount of human trafficking. We end traffickers' ability to profit from their victims and leverage systems like banking, hospitality, and transportation to hide in plain sight. We create networks of culturally appropriate trauma-informed service providers to restore choice and safety to survivors. Rather than serve dozens of victims with a single shelter we are permanently changing the future for thousands.

COLLECTIVE LIBERTY'S SOLUTION

Our team of current and former law enforcement, survivors, and social service providers are able to operate as insiders within the systems we help change, and often be met with open doors and arms where other agencies can't get past the introductions.

When investigators are trained to find and prosecute prostitution, and then tasked with reframing their entire lens and approach without guidance, it can be difficult not to fall back on what they know - prostitution, not human trafficking. This very often manifests in human trafficking victims being seen as prostitutes, and arrested instead of helped.

Our methods help diffuse that confusion and lead to more positive outcomes with law enforcement, as well as fewer negative outcomes. Our training and technical assistance are the national standard and have created lasting impact in diverse jurisdictions resulting in closure of over 1,200 commercial front brothels, and ensuring over 400 victims were connected to culturally appropriate services instead of arrested. Our intelligence analysis has supported the arrest of over 1,100 traffickers and 1,500 sex buyers.

We transform the current dynamic of uncoordinated reactive methods by combining and analyzing new and previously disparate datasets using subject matter expertise and AI technology to proactively identify previously unknown networks of human trafficking (HT). Our focus is to disrupt their ability to traffic humans and launder the proceeds, and to give enforcement agencies the tools and technology necessary to fight back.

OUR PROBLEM TODAY

40.9 MILLION
people trafficked
globally in 2018

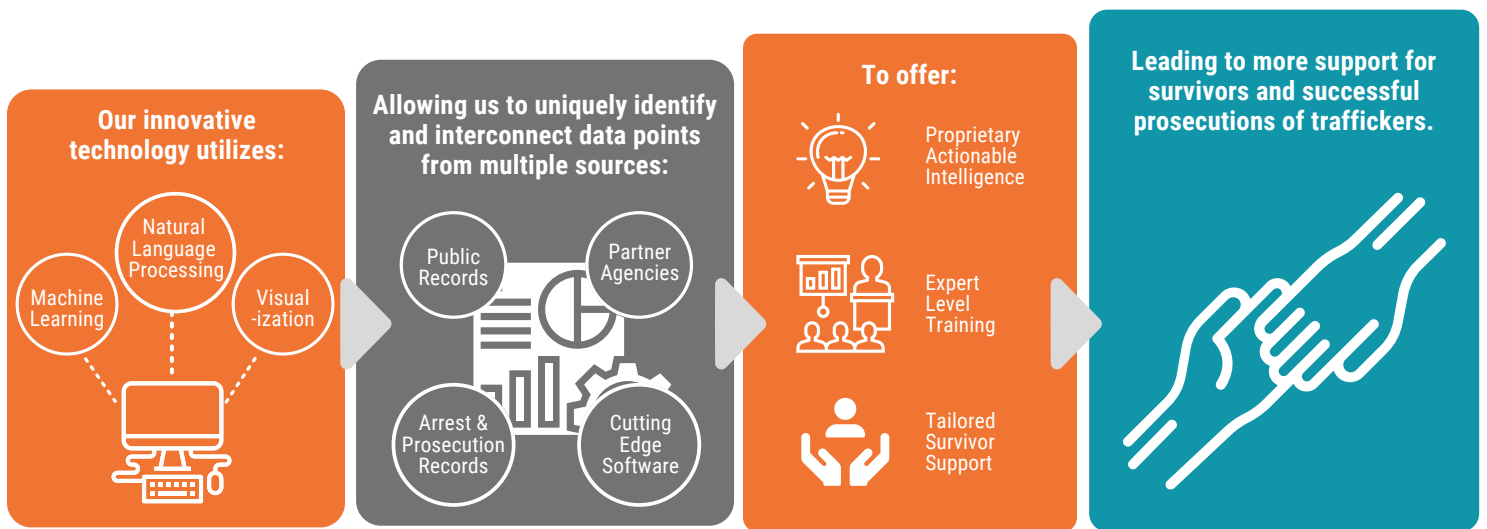

400,000+
estimated to be trafficked in the U.S.

17,895
police departments in the U.S.

FEWER THAN 800 PROSECUTIONS
combined across federal and state offices

“ Collective Liberty training was the most useful training
I have ever had in 22 years of law enforcement. ”

Law Enforcement Officer's written Austin post-training evaluation comment

HOW WE MAKE A DIFFERENCE

We have the right partners with the right data and the right technology solutions. We started with data around illicit massage businesses as they have a visible digital footprint from recruiting workers using fraud, to advertising their businesses and criminal activity, to their corporate filings and fraudulent tax, insurance, banking, and mail behavior. This level of visibility led to actionable results quickly, and has helped inform the data collection and intelligence analysis process as we branch out into building actionable intelligence around the other 25 types of human trafficking. We are now working on automating and scaling that process to scale our impact.

We elevate the best practices being done around the country so that partners are able to learn from each other and build on, and improve, real cases. To complement the work of our partners, and to fill existing gaps in the system, Collective Liberty provides:

- Actionable data and intel using 21st century data science and AI, as well as cultural insights and nuance.
- Action-oriented training and technical assistance resources designed to provide relatively easy solutions to change how jurisdictions spot, respond to, and prevent trafficking.
- Creating and connecting holistic networks of law enforcement, direct service providers, survivor leaders, policymakers and industry experts.
- Policy analysis and recommendations

We work directly with survivors of human trafficking to ensure our products are trauma-informed. We collaborate with national and international subject matter experts in criminal justice, legislation, civil enforcement, and social service provision to promote cutting edge best practices. We provide intelligence support to hundreds of investigators who have attended our trainings.

“ Your intel packets help build connections across data points. I have worked with fusion centers for years and they just send data. Collaborating with you helps me work more cases at once. ”

Central Texas Human Trafficking Investigator

20+ INSTITUTES OVER 300 JURISDICTIONS

- California
 - Los Angeles
 - San Francisco
 - Contra Costa
- Denver, CO
- Philadelphia, PA
- DC
- Fairfax, VA
- Suffolk, NY
- Orlando Miami
- Ft. Lauderdale
- Delaware
- Alabama
- Texas
 - Galveston
 - Waco
 - Dallas
 - Tyler
 - Midland-Odessa
 - Beaumont
 - Rio Grande Valley
 - Massachusetts
- Mississippi
- Rhode Island

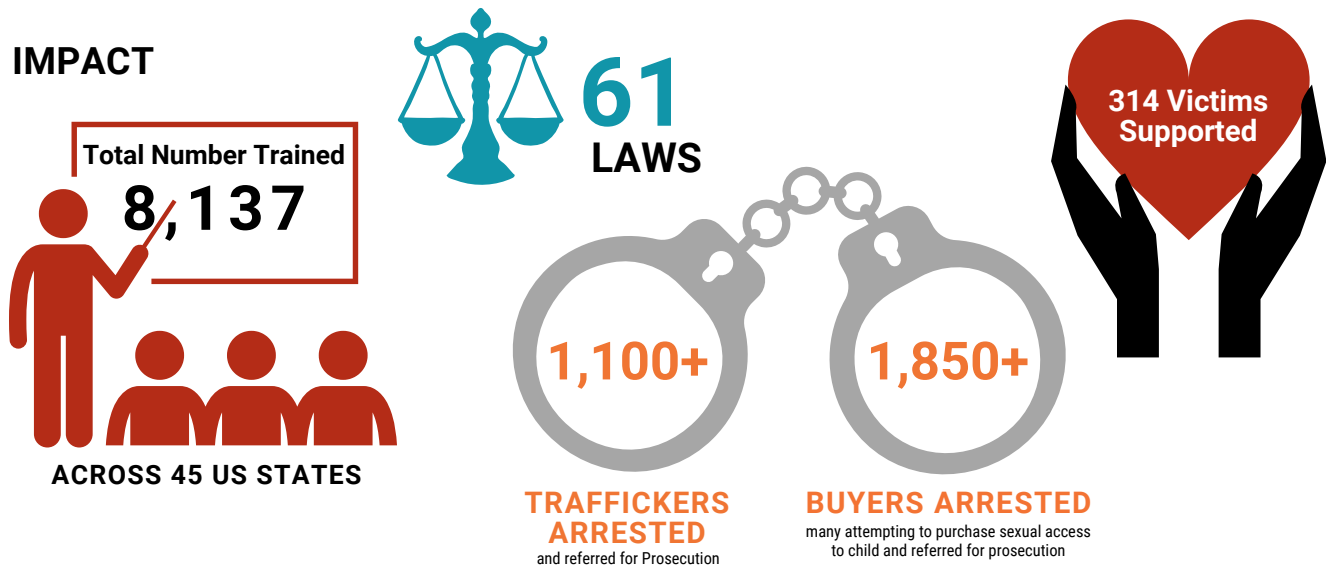

AGENCIES

Federal Agencies: HSI (from multiple field offices) • FBI • Department of Justice • State Department

State Agencies: TABC • DPS • TDLR • State police and troopers across multiple states

Federal ECM Task Forces: Los Angeles • Miami-Dade • Philadelphia • Brooklyn • Riverside • Las Vegas • San Bernardino • Chicago • Fairfax, VA • Mississippi State • Tarrant County, TX • Hawaii

IMPACT

COLLECTIVE LIBERTY IN THE MEDIA

NBC NEWS

INDEPENDENT

The Columbus Dispatch

The Washington Post

DAILY NEWS

The Dallas Morning News

THE SACRAMENTO BEE

“ Collective Liberty may be just the tool I have been looking for. ”

Federal Prosecutor